INTRODUCTION

The compilation of this book was started inadvertently in July 1976. As I was researching the origin of the KANE-GOUGH family of St. Mary's County, Maryland at the Maryland State Archives, Annapolis, Maryland, I used the reference SLAVE STATISTICS OF ST. MARY'S COUNTY, MARYLAND, 1864, COMMISSIONER GEORGE B. DENT.

Use had been made of the census, marriage, death, tax assessment, wills, deeds and land records seeking information that pertained to the surname under investigation. My parents Philip Moten Kane (1896-1983) and Mary Priscilla Gough Kane, (1897-1979) told me that his father told him that the Kane (surname of Cane had various spellings) family was owned by a doctor. He did not recall hearing his father speak the name of the doctor. I kept this information utmost in mind when I was researching in St. Mary's County records.

The book SLAVE STATISTICS OF ST. MARY'S COUNTY, MARYLAND has 19 columns with 13 topic headings. The topic headings are: Date, Name of Owner, Name of Slave, Sex, Age, Physical Condition, Term of Servitude, Emancipated by the State, Left With or Taken by the Military, Enlisted in U.S. Service, Regiment, Compensation Received and Remarks. The heading Emancipated by the State is divided into three columns, day, month, year; Left With or Was Taken by the Military is also divided into day, month, and year; as is the heading, Enlisted in the U.S. Service. At the top of each page is the title: "Record of Slaves in St. Mary's County, At the Time of the Adoption of the Constitution in 1864."

However, the book did not have an index, so I started my search for the Kane-Gough Family on page one. I noticed that every slave had a surname and it was not necessarily the name of the slave owner. I turned page after page after page. I read surnames that I had heard my parents mention. The Barnes, and Dysons, the Prices, and the Gordons were familiar names to my ear. It was at that time that I thought that I should write down some of these names. If I came into contact with someone researching a particular name I could show them what I had on file and direct them to where they could find further information.

Therefore, I decided I would make a form on the order of the original page but with five columns. I would incorporate pertinent data from the original record into these five columns. Over the years as people asked me to seek information concerning their slave ancestors, I would look in the SLAVE STATISTICS first. Each time that I used the reference I would copy a few pages. I finally put all of the pages in numerical order and found that I had transcribed over three-fourths of the book. Then, why not copy the rest of the book and insert an index. In this manner, the book would be assessible to everyone, and this is what I did. This copy would be especially valuable to those whose ancestors were slaves. It would be also valuable to those seeking the name of the slave owner.

After several trips to the State Archives and continued reading and examining each page, I finally came to a page on which I came face to face with the names of some of my ancestors. I carefully read the names one by one. There were the names of William, Frank, Matilda, Temperance, Alice, Ellen, all Canes. Altogether, there were 12 Canes listed. These were my ancestors, these were the folks that I had been seeking. There was the name of Dr. Walter Hanson Briscoe, the owner of a large plantation named Sotterly and the owner of 53 slaves. Here were the names of my ancestors, written boldly and legible for everyone to see. Here were slaves identified in official records with a surname. This was overwhelming.

The first name I came across was George Cane, age 20 and his brother Frank Cane, age 17. These were some of the same names that my father told me that his father relayed to him. In fact, some of the names of the 12 Canes listed as being slaves of Dr. Walter Hanson Briscoe, my father knew when he was a child. Frank Cane, his father's brother and the father of Julia Kane Jordan, (1900-1993) died in 1928. My father knew him well.

I turned two more pages and there under the ownership of Chapman Billingsley, the Judge of the Orphan's Court of St. Mary's County were the names of more Canes. From this point on I felt that I must let others know that they can find their slave ancestors. So I continued to gather notes on slaves in some cases entire families. I always noted the page number so that I would not have to look all over the book when I wanted to refer back to a particular name. Persistently, I compiled page after page of data and shared it with whomever asked for assistance. This book is definitely a major research tool for anyone who has ancestral "roots" in St. Mary's County, Maryland.

Moreover, I hope this book will assist in locating lost and/or elusive ancestors. The index contains 4,230 names which included slaves and slave owners. The slave owner's name and the date when the information was recorded is at the top of the page. There are five columns: Name of Slaves, Sex, Age, Emancipated By State of Maryland and Remarks. As in the original record, in some instances there was more than one entry to a page.

The remarks column contains information that was listed in the columns that were deleted from this study. The physical condition of the slave and the term of servitude has been omitted. The column Compensation Received has also been omitted. This particular column refers to the Bounty offer to the slave and slave owners by the State of Maryland during the Civil War. In the remarks column one can find, in some cases, the actual date of enlistment, the regiment and the manner in which the departure of the slave took place.

The abbreviations found in the remarks column:

E-enlisted in the military

The number in parenthesis in the remarks column is the page number in the original records.

In anything copied there are bound to be some mistakes. I have tried to be as accurate as possible. I advise the researcher to check the original record whenever necessary. They are located in the Maryland Hall of Records, Maryland State Archives, Annapolis, Maryland.

Further, I wish to thank everyone who helped to make this work possible.
